

GUEST of a GUEST

NYC Date Night: 9 Cozy Spots To Hit Up This Winter

by Cristiana Cannizzaro · January 29, 2015

The winter season can be a super romantic time in New York City, between the twinkling lights, warm fireplaces, and cozy date night atmospheres. Whether you want to go out for a drink or indulge in great food on your next winter date, these spots are sure to amaze with their romantic ambiance. Click through our slideshow for the coziest spots to visit this year!

VIEW SLIDESHOW >

Antica Pesa

Enjoy your romantic date night by the fireplace at Antica Pesa with some Italian wine. Dine in the polished backroom, decorated with dark wood on its white walls and gigantic, bubble lights. Share starters like the crudo e bufala or the thin prosciutto di parma with filo-wrapped mozzarella (which is outstanding with a drop of olive oil!). In 2013, even Madonna dined here on an intimate date with her 25-year-old boyfriend. Antica Pesa, 115 Berry St., Williamsburg Photo via [@Facebook]